

Dr. Annabel Beerel is a Leadership and Change Management Executive who works with senior executives to advance organizational effectiveness. She is also a highly experienced executive coach. Her assignments include one on one coaching as well as working with management teams to develop leadership capacity and improve decision-making. More recently she is involved with organizations to bring mindfulness into their cultures.

Annabel has worked with multinationals as well as educational and non-profit organizations. She has been a Corporate Financier and Investment Banker in the City of London where she was actively engaged in business analysis, fund raising, merger and acquisitions and strategic planning. She founded and ran a highly successful international business in Artificial Intelligence.

Annabel is the founder and President & CEO of the New England Women's Leadership Institute, an organization that helps women advance in their careers and advises on organizational leadership capacity building. The flagship event of the Institute is the New England Women's Leadership Summit, a major leadership and professional skills development event for professional women across New England.

Annabel holds a Ph.D. in Comparative Religion and Ethics from Boston University. She holds a Masters Degree in Transformational Psychology from the University of Philosophical Research, a Masters Degree in Theology from Boston College, and has pursued Advanced Leadership Training at the J.F. Kennedy School of Management at Harvard University. Annabel holds an MBA with a focus on Corporate Finance and Strategic Management. She is also a qualified accountant and a certified meditation instructor.

Annabel was born in Johannesburg, South Africa. Since then she has travelled extensively and has worked and taught in several countries around the world. Her passion is travel where she can experience world cultures and religions. Annabel has written nine books and is an active public speaker on a variety of topics.

